Your Systems SEER Rating

We use SEER (Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio) to measure how well your HVAC system works, like checking a car's MPG. If one car gets 20 MPG and another gets 10 MPG, the second one costs twice as much to drive the same distance. With SEER, a higher rating means lower electricity bills.

System Comfort Comparison

Single speed is on and off, basic cooling and does the job. Can have temperature variation in home. Most systems operate like this. SEER ranges from 14-16.

2 stage are more efficient, gives you more equal cooling, better humidity control and more comfort due to less mood swings in temperature because of the more constant run time. SEER ranges from 15-17.

Variable speed does what the 2 stage does but on a much greater level, providing max comfort, efficiency and technology. SEER ranges from 17-24.
